About Fieldskills

Based in Kota Kinabalu, we are a specialist training and adventure company. We work closely with our UK office to provide the latest Health & Safety Executive and Royal Geographical Society standards, protocols and training methods here in Malaysia.

We are able to offer many courses and our hands-on, practical approach is the trade mark of our training. Our courses are interactive, dynamic and tailored to our client's specific requirements - whether that is at the office, on a school fieldtrip or a research study in the remote rainforest! Our clients include:

The Royal Society's South East Asia Rainforest Research Program and Stability of Altered Forest Ecosystems Project | Cardiff University Field Centre (Danau Girang) | Sabah Wildlife Department | WWF | Earthwatch Institute | Kinabalu International School | Asia Ability

Forest Safety

Our forest safety courses are developed from years of experience working in the tropical environments and planning and leading a huge range of overseas expeditions, fieldwork and projects.

With such a unique environment of course come unique hazards. These courses are designed to teach more about these amazing environments in order to appreciate them and operate safely within them.

Suitable for:

- Leaders and instructors
- Students and teachers
- Scientist and researchers
- Fieldworkers

First Aid

Mapped to the UK's Health & Safety Executive, our courses ensure up to date training at the highest of international standards.

Providing a safe, simple and systematic approach to first aid incidents. Candidates who successfully complete any of our standard first aid courses receive a certificate from the UK.

Courses include:

- Emergency First Aid (1 day)
- Outdoor First Aid (2 days)
- First Aid at Work (3 days)
- Child Care First Aid (1 day)
- Basic Skills Refresher (½ day)
- Automatic External Defibrillator (½ day)

Search & Rescue

Our search & rescue courses cover jungle navigation, search & rescue techniques and remote evacuations. We can also include river crossings, jungle hazards and boat safety.

With the added benefit of being able to combine this with outdoor first aid courses Fieldskills can assist managers of remote forest staff to implement high standards of safety and operation.

Suitable for:

- Leaders and instructors
- Forest workers
- Rangers and guides
- Scientists and researchers
